Atlantic City Is Preparing for Big Easter Week Crowd

Hotels Already Reopening for Throng Expected for Annual Fashion Parade; Many New Yorkers at Resort

Special Correspondence

ATLANTIC CITY, April 5.—Canes for women will be among the staple style accessories for Easter on the boardwalk. The smartest women folk of the spring crowd have taken to carrying sticks that are of full size as selected by men, and a new cane has become an acceptable present. Several former attempts have been made to spread the style of carrying canes among the women, but always the sticks presented for feminine use were dainty affairs, either wicker trimmed or ribbon topped. These new boardwalk canes, however, are stout and heavy.

Most of the new arrivals from New York and other cities of this week have come prepared to remain several weeks at the shore, and there is likely to be a real dearth of hotel and cottage quarters for those who arrive later. The first real rush of the Easter crowd begins in time for Palm Sunday, and the smaller hotels and boarding houses will be open then ready to receive the congregation, and incidentally to share in the general seashore prosperity.

More than $50,000 will be in the hands of the local committees in charge of prizes for the coming aerial meet. Among the novelties promised is a first peep of the new "jitney" flying machines which are promised by a syndicate whose officials say they have designed a tiny plane capable of alighting on any country road and to cost little more than the cheapest automobile.

Among the hotels which reopened this week are the Rio Grande, at the ocean end of New York Avenue, and the Borton, a Tennessee Avenue house long favored by New York visitors.

Mrs. Frank Huyler was among the newcomers from New York at the Traymore this week. Miss Catherine Calvert, Miss Winifred Lowry and Miss Grace Field are in a New York party there. Mrs. Waring Thomas arrived at the Traymore with Miss Ruth Thomas.

Mrs. Edward M. Fisher, who recently returned from London, is spending some time at the Shelbourne. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Priper, of East Orange, who are here with Miss H. Elizabeth Priper and W. Douglas Priper, are entertaining Mrs. H. B. Chase and Miss Tenor Case, of Rochester, N. Y., and Mrs. William Lilly, of New York, have Mrs. John Lilly, of Lambertville, as their guest at the Marlborough-Blenheim.

Mrs. De Forest Grant arrived at the St. Charles from New York. Mrs. F. S. Turnbull and Miss Turnbull are at the St. Charles until after Easter.
